military chieftain for President. President Lopez destroyed the property of our citizens. We demanded indemnity for the past, and security for the future. He told us to go to a place which is supposed to be much nearer and warmer than Paraguay. The President was indignant; he reported to Congress, and Congress gave him corp.

blanche. Then he organized the greatest naval expedition that we have ever sent out, and dispatched it with Commissioner Bowlin. with instructions to demand immediate satisfaction, to the tune of half a million, or to know the reason why.

Then we had the novel instance of an armed expedition, which went out after negotiation had been exhausted, with immense preparation, to enforce a demand, returning me empty-handed to negotiate at some future day. But, then, Commissioner Bowlin wrote Mr. Buchanan a private letter, tickling the old backelor's imagination with description of the bare-necked and bare legred country girls of Paraguay; that was some comfort; and then there was the Crom-well line of canal propellers which were chartered and then purchased, greatly to the eral fat contracts, all of which went to show that peace has triumphs more glorious than war, and in addition to all this, Lopez em-braced Commissioner Bowlin, which, as he is nearly half-white, and tolerably greasy, considering our national partiality for color, ought to be worth the cost.

The joint commission, which was agreed upon to arbitrate the claim against Paraguay, has just reported that there is nothing due. So we negotiated, demanded, sent agreat naval expedition at the cost of millions, returned and arbitrated, and size cume-craus. To aggravate the thing, Lopez offered a quarter of a million, cash, to settle it, when the expedition was there. As the claim was for private property destroyed, the claimants are just a quarter of a million worse off than when the great and powerful expedition, which went out to demand, returned to arbitrate. The least the Government can do is to pay that quarter of a million to the claimants, and pocket the glory and the embrace and the Bowlin description of the bare-legged girls, for its share.

There can be no question that this is a warlike nation. What other could have made so much warlike preparation, for so little outcome? What other could have kept a boundary dispute along for half century, merely by giving up territory enough for half a dozen States, to keep it alive?

Saint Cheever in London. Dr. Cheever had his first public reception in England at a meeting in London on the lat inst., to celebrate West India Emancipa tion. The Doctor was received as if he was the only anti-slavery Apostle on this side of the ocean, a character which he made no bones of assuming. Being called out, he mounted the pulpit, and proceeded to give the slaveholders and the Bible supporters of slavery, fits, in the strong style which the Doctor, like many young writers for the press,

We extract briefly, to show the meek and We extract briefly, to show the meek and Christ-like spirit which sainnated the Doctor.

"He had come from the midst of opposition and slander, and the wrath and calumny poured upon himself and church had followed him across the Atlantic. Through reproach and suffering God had trained and disciplined an Abolition Church in the very heart of a city almost wholly under the dominion of the slave power, and kept it faithful. They had hardly begun in earnest, when they were hardly begun in carnest, when they wer in the midst of a thunder-storm, so dee that it was easiest to plunge through it an come out on, the other side. In each advance they had made they had suffered year, many long had becoming y loss, but it numerical and pocuniary loss, but i resolution and firmness in contending against the great sin, and at whatever cost in the loss of wealthy supporters, they were determined to maintain a free and unfettered pulpit. prit. [Hear, hear.]

The people of this country had no idea of the debauching, devastating, uncontrollatie sway of slavery in the States. Their great work in America now was to rouse the Church and ministry, armed with the thunders and the lightnings of God's word, against the infulty—complicated as it was in so many shapes and forms that it was scarcely possible even to indicate them within any reasonable length of time, that might be allotted to him. [Cheera.] In this conflict (continued Dr Cheever) the Churches of Great Britain must assist us in the uncompromising suplication of the word of God.

"Is it not wonderful that at this day, under

"Is it not wonderful that at this day, under the light of Christianity, 1860 years after the death of Christianity, 1860 years after the death of Christian ty, 1860 years after the death of Christian it, 1860 years after the death of murder, should have been rescued from that criminal fellowship and revived under the Gospel, into Christian communion, as if it were a virtue! Was there ever a more malignant and extraordinary hallneination? The church in which it continues remains in the favor of God! [Hear, hear.] A crime gibbeted by the law of God is taken by Christian surgeons from the gallows, is exhaused by Gospel reservectionsits, galescies taken by Christian surgeons from the gallow, is exhaused by Gospel reservectionsits, galescies taken by Christian surgeons from the sallow that taken by Christian surgeons from the sallow that taken by Christian surgeons from the sallow that taken by Christian surgeons from the wind plause.] And those who undertake to thems the torch of God's flaming law within the skeleton, and to trag it forth beneath the condemnation of the Gospel, are themselves assaulted and denounced as being greater sinners and infidels than those who, in the very Church of God, prictice and make profit of the iniquativ, (Cheera.] I say it is an unparalleled maintent." rery active and energetic in getting up a Re-publican demonstration, which is to come off to-day. The Young Men's Republican Club has distributed special invitations with a very generous profusion, one or two hunfred gentlemen in this city, besides all the nembers of the press-gang, having been thus avored. As it is a custom in such cases to ddress invitations to distinguished persons, who might add to the attractions of the oc asion, and who, if they do not attend, are expected to respond by letter, for the edification of the meeting, it is quite natural that this, to those unacquainted with the general extent of the invitations, should be regarded as a special call on the distinguished to expound on the issues of the day. Accordingly, we find in the Springfield News the following letter, which the News properly introduce to that honor, and it illustrates the danger which Henry Clay so elequently deprecated, in the Old Hickory times, of having a great "Your meeting will have all prope cedful conspicuity in the columns needful conspicuity in the columns of the Commercial.

Req., of the Cincinnati Commercial: CINCINNATI, August 13, 1860. To Clifton M. Sicholz, Secretary of the Young Men's Republican Club, Springfield, Ohio:

"I am obliged to you and the Young Republicans of Springfield for the invitation to place myself under your care for a few days, but my duties here forbid me to think of accepting your hospitality.

"I do not see well how a candid, intelligent young man of the Northern States can account to himself for doing otherwise than supporting Abraham Lincoln for next President of the United States. If there is to be a crists, now is a good time to have it. No honest man can have even a superficial acquaintance with the politics of the day, without knowing that the interests of the whole country demand the overthrow of the partisans now in power—who have used the prejudice against negroes which pervades the whole country demand the overthrow of the partisans now in power—who have used the prejudice against negroes which pervades the whole country demand the overthrow of the partisans now in power—who have used the prejudice against negroes which pervades the whole country demand the overthrow of the partisans now in power—who have used the prejudice against negroes which pervades the without the distinction of party—and the scare-crow of disanion—to fortify themselves in a career of profligacy as scanthemselves in a career of profligacy as scan-dalous and ruinous as that of the official thieres who have impoverished Russia and bankrupted Austria.

"I have not much confidence in the Repubfican party as a party—and no confidence the Republican platform as a deciaration principles—but I believe in the necessity urning out the me—in the legitimacy and excellence of the Republican sentiment—and a the personal integrity and sturdy will to lo well, of the Republican candidate for the Presidency, who is eminently a man of the Presidency, who is eminently a man of the people—and I more and more believe THE MAN for the nation. M. HALSTEAD."

The gratification of the News at this sound political document,' which has "not much confidence in the Republican party, as a party," and none at all in the Republican platform, is truly refreshing. Surely the Young Men's Republican Club of Spring-field must be striving for the blessing promised to the poor in spirit. But this may be made up by his confidence in the Republican party as not a party; and the young Republicans of Springfield have the consolation of knowing that he has great faith in the Republican sentiment; but what the Republican sentiment, outside the Republican party and its platform, is, seems to be left in profound mystery by this "sound political document," except that it consists in "turning out the ne"-a principle which is usually more of less vigorous in the outs, in proportion as they expect to supply the place of the ina.

The following sensible advice to the United States from the Oakville (Canada) Advertiser in regard to the reception of the Prince of Wales, will be found worthy the consideration of our City Council, which has voted to extend an invitation to the Prince to visit Cincinnati, which, if accepted, would involve an unjustifiable expenditure of a large sum of the public money, an unlimited display of of scrambling, gluttony, intemperance, wastefulness, discomfort and disgrace, which are with ghastly facetiousness called municipal with ghastly facetiousness called municipal hospitalities:

"We have not noticed yet that the Government of the United States have invited the Prince of Wales to visit Washington, and we, in common with thousands throughout the country, trust they will not. If the Prince goes to Washington, he will doubtless do himself the honor to call on the President of the United States, and will receive the same attention from the President, in his official capacity, that any well-dressed and decently-behaved subject of Canada or citizen of the United States would receive. Doubtless the Prince would receive counteous attention from the President and heads of departments, for they are well-bred men, in their non-official capacity; but that the Government of the United States will officially distinguish this undistinguished heir to a throne, we shall not believe till we see it. Birth no longer confers distinction. When a citizen of the United States, a possible President, is found in England, in London, does the Monarch, the Government of England, run after him, fetch him to court, and distinguish him by unusual, or even usual attentions? Why, then, should the people's Government of the States run after this undistinguished heir to a throne, upon which he may, and probably will never sit, unless elected by the people?"

A Bell-shaped Patch on the Constitutional Platform.

The Constitutional Union Platform of "the Constitution and the enforcement of the laws," seems to have come to a premature end, in their State Convention, Thursday, when they decided to unite with the Demo crats against Judge Brinkerhoff, solely on account of his decision on the Fugitive-slave Law, Some unconstitutional people may say that if the decisions of the courts on the constitutionality of a law are to be tried ver again at the elections, it is no great improvement on the old practice of discussing the merits of the laws themselves, before the people. The platform of the Constitution sems to require tinkering even more than those which venture farther from shore. It as already added a plank against a judicial cision of a Judge of the Supreme Court of Ohio, and there is no telling how soon it will make a dead set et old Dred Scott him

PROGRESS OF THE SLAVE-TRADE. Two Slave Brige Captured and Taken int

New York-Two Native Africans Wit-

Thursday's New York Times has the fol-

Thursday's New York Times has the following intelligence:

The slave brig William R. Kibby, which was captured by the United States swamer Crossacr. Lieutenant Commanding Maffit, off the Island of Auguilla, on the 23d of July, and which was afterward taken into Key West, as before reported, arrived at this port on Monday, in charge of Lieutenant J. M. Duncan. This vessel, it will be remembered, is reported to have landed over 400 slaves in Cuba. When suddenly surprised by the Crusader, she was deserted by the officers and crew, leaving their breakfast uneaten upon the table, and in their precipitate flight three negro boys were left on board, who had slowed themselves away in the forward part of the hold. These young Africans were brought here in the brig, and were yesterday delivered into the custody of the United States Marshal, who had them removed from the vessel and lodged in Eldridge-street jail, where they will be comfortably quartered until they are wanted as witnesses against the vessel.

To protect them against the cold, to which they sppear very sensitive, warm clothing has been provided for them. They are apparently about twelve or fourteen years of age, very intelligent and lively, and manifest great attachment fo Lieutenant Duncan, in whose care they flave been since they left Key West. Their necks are ornamented with trinkets of brass and copper, which they evidently prize very highly.

Their language is unintelligible, but an effort will be made to find an interpreter for the purpose of communicating with them. The William R. Kibby is a brig of 190 tuns register, rated A 2; was built in Baltimore in 1853, and hailed from New Orleans, J. H. Smith being the owner or consignee. "Otto" has been the captain on previous voyages—probably the same "Otto" who now figures as the master of the bark Kate.

The other celebrity in the slaver line is the brig Thomas Achorn, which has just arrived from the coast, as a prize to the United States steamer Mystic, at Kabenda, south-west coast of Africa, on the 28th the vessel; and afterward denied that he had any supercargo.

He professed to be entirely ignorant of what was in the vessel, while the aforeaid foreigner disclaimed any connection with the brig, and said he was "only a passenger." There were three foreigners on board claiming to be passengers, and two others who were called the servants of the other three; the latter, however, aid not have the appearance of persons accustomed to fill that position. Neither of the five names were found on any papers, as belonging in any way to the vessel, and the "Captain" said they were not on his papers. No protest whatever was made against the seizure. On the 28th June a second search was made, and a quantity of money was found, viz: In the supercargo's a second search was made, and a quantity of money was found, viz: in the supercargo's trunk (Mr. Loler), twenty-live sovereigns, and twelve half-sovereigns, which were handed to him for the support of himself and party. In a belt of a passenger calling him-self 'Senor Juan' 428 sovereigns, and 176 half-sovereigns, and ten sovereigns were half-sovereigns, and ten sovereigns were found sewed up in suspensory bags.

GARIBALDI'S ADDRESS TO THE WOMEN .- In me of his proclamations Garibaldi thus addresses himself to the women of Palermo:

In confidence I present myself to you, noble ladies of Palermo, to confess an act of weakness. I, an old soldier of two worlds, I shed tears and am distressed in mind. I weep not at the sight of the misery and misfortunes to which this unhappy city has been condemned; not with indignation at the sight of the butchery and of the bodies mutilated by the bombardment, but at the sight of victims and orphans exposed to die of hunger. At the Orphan Asylum eighty per cent, of the inmates perish for want of nourishment—and yet a very little would suffice to feed these beings created in the image of God. But here I stop—I leave the rest to be understood by your generous hearts, already palpitating with pity at the sight of these misfortunes. freases himself to the women of Palermo:

A LADY OF FARHION ARRESTED AS A FELON A New York letter to the Mobile (Ala. Register relates the following incident:

A curious matter happened in this city last Saturday. A lady of hashion, Mrs. Beebe, passed on a store-keeper a $5 counterfeit bill of the Mechanics' Bank. She was informed of the Mechanics' Bank. She was informed that it was a counterfeit. She went to a store near by, and passed it on the man. She was arrested and taken to the Tombs. In vain she pleaded innocence. She was astonished when told that she had been guilty of felony, and must be locked up. It will be a lesson to a good many worthy persons, who, when stuck with a bad bill, try and get rid of it as soon as possible.

AN USPORTUNATE MOTHER SEERS TO DE-STROY HER CHILD.—A genteel-looking woman named Jane Faulkner, from the factories in Saco or Biddeford, Me., went on board the steamer Leviston, on Monday morning, at Portland, and engaged a passage for Boston, In the course of the forenoon the went into the round-house and delivered herself of a child, which she threw out of the window. The infant lodged on the guard of the boat, where it was found allve by one of the hands. The mother says she did not know what she was about when she threw it out of the window.

A Type of the Beauses World.—The following is true of more things than one in every-day life: "You charge a dollar for killing e calf, you smutty rascal," said a planter to an old negro. IT NEVER FALLS.— DANYILLE.
BY July 1, 1859— Mr. Solors PALER.—
Dear rife: Willing to bound those who are troubled with eruptions and cutaneous diseases. I certify that a grant many cases have come under my personal observation of the incalculable benefit of Palmer's Vegetable Cosmotic Lotion. I have sold it for the past sever years and never has a case comes within my knowledge of its failing to be a benefit.
